This Week with Mrs. Kelly

Another Snow Day, yay! Hope that your child got outside and enjoyed the snow.

Studies have shown that playing outside benefits children because it builds confidence, promotes creativity, teaches responsibility, gets them moving, and reduces stress. This week, Kinders worked on the all-important skill of waiting. Learning how to wait helps children manage impulses which is a critical skill, not only in the classroom, but in life. To reinforce this at home, find natural ways to help them practice waiting. K Prep used what we learned from "Clark the Shark" last week to practice sharing with the Beanie Babies. 3rd grade worked on managing disappointment while 4th grade worked in pairs to practice compromising. 6th grade reflected on the qualities of good winners and good losers. This football season had a lot of lessons!
